SOCIAL TRADING CLIENT AGREEMENT

KUDO TRADE LTD (SAINT LUCIA)
Version: 1.0
Last Updated: November 2026
Effective Date: the date this Agreement is published in the Legal section of the Website
Service Provider: Kudo Trade Ltd, an International Business Company registered in Saint Lucia under registration number 2024-00239
Website: global.kudo.com (the "Website")

> Risk Notice. Trading leveraged products such as Forex and CFDs carries a high level of risk and may not be suitable for all investors. Copy trading does not reduce that risk: losses incurred by a Strategy Provider will generally be replicated in your account, and your results may be worse than the Strategy Provider's. Do not allocate funds you cannot afford to lose, and read the Risk Disclosure in the Legal section of the Website before copying.

1. Introduction and Acceptance of Terms

1.1. This Social Trading Client Agreement ("Agreement") governs a Client's use of Kudo Social Trading (the "Service") as a Copier. The Service is made available by Kudo Trade Ltd ("Kudo", "Company", "we", "us" or "our").
1.2. This Agreement supplements the Account Terms. The following documents published in the Legal section of the Website apply to the extent relevant: Terms & Conditions, Privacy Policy, AML Policy, KYC Policy, Complaints Handling Policy, Cookie Policy, Risk Disclosure and Restricted Regions. Those documents are incorporated by reference where they constitute applicable contractual terms; informational disclosures do not become contractual obligations solely by being linked. The Client should review the current versions on the website.
1.3. Regulatory status. Kudo Trade Ltd is registered as an International Business Company in Saint Lucia. It is not licensed or supervised by a financial services regulator in respect of the Service, and Clients will not benefit from protections that may be available to clients of regulated firms.
1.4. The relationship between Kudo and Strategy Providers is governed by the separate Social Trading Provider Agreement ("Provider Agreement"). A Client who wishes to act as a Strategy Provider must accept that agreement.
1.5. The Client must read and accept this Agreement before copying a Strategy Provider. By ticking the acceptance box on the Platform and activating the Service, the Client accepts this Agreement and acknowledges access to the Account Terms and the legal policies published in the Legal section of the Website.

1.6. This Agreement governs the specific operation of the Service for Copiers. In the event of a conflict with the Account Terms, this Agreement prevails only as to copy trading mechanics, subject to mandatory law and any express priority provision in the Account Terms.
1.7. The Service is available only to Clients satisfying the eligibility requirements set out in Clause 5. The Service is not available to residents of, or persons located in, any jurisdiction listed on the Restricted Regions page in the Legal section of the Website or in which the offering of copy trading would be contrary to Applicable Laws.

2. Definitions

"Account Terms" means the Terms & Conditions applicable to the Client's Trading Account, published in the Legal section of the Website, as amended from time to time.
"Applicable Laws" means all laws, regulations, regulatory requirements and binding directions applicable to Kudo and the relevant Client, including those of Saint Lucia.
"Client" means a natural or legal person holding a Trading Account with Kudo.
"Client Documents" means the Account Terms, this Agreement and the policies and disclosures published in the Legal section of the Website that apply to the Client.
"Copied Trade" means a transaction or order initiated, modified or closed in a Copier's Trading Account through the Service in response to trading activity undertaken by a Strategy Provider.
"Copier" means an eligible Client who elects to replicate the trading activity of a Strategy Provider through the Service.
"Copy Trading" means the automated replication of eligible trading activities undertaken by a Strategy Provider into a Copier's Trading Account, subject to the Service's functionality, the Copier's selected settings and applicable trading restrictions.
"Copying Settings" means the trade allocation, position sizing, risk-management and other parameters available to a Copier through the Service.
"Performance Fee" means any fee payable by a Copier in connection with profits attributable to copying a Strategy Provider, where applicable.
"Platform" means the Kudo Social Trading interface and associated systems through which the Service is accessed.
"Provider Agreement" means the Social Trading Provider Agreement published in the Legal section of the Website, as amended from time to time.

"Strategy Provider" means an eligible Client approved by Kudo under the Provider Agreement whose trading activity is made available for copying by Copiers through the Service.
"Strategy Provider Profile" means the page on the Platform displaying a Strategy Provider's display name, strategy description, performance statistics, risk indicators and applicable fees.
"Trading Account" means an eligible trading account maintained with Kudo and connected to the Service.

3. Description and Nature of the Service

3.1. Kudo Social Trading enables eligible Copiers to follow selected Strategy Providers and automatically replicate eligible trading activities in their own Trading Accounts, subject to their Copying Settings and the technical and operational limitations of the Service.
3.2. The Service may facilitate the automatic opening, modification and closing of positions without requiring separate instructions or confirmation from the Copier for each transaction.
3.3. Copied Trades executed in a Copier's Trading Account remain subject to Kudo's applicable trading conditions, including execution arrangements, margin requirements, leverage, spreads, swaps, commissions and other charges.
3.4. The Service does not guarantee that a Copier will achieve the same trading results, returns or performance as the Strategy Provider.
3.5. The availability of a Strategy Provider, trading strategy, performance statistic or ranking on the Platform does not, by itself, constitute a guarantee of suitability, expertise, profitability or future performance.
3.6. No investment advice. Kudo does not provide investment advice, personal recommendations or portfolio management services through the Service. Nothing on the Platform, including the listing, ranking or display of any Strategy Provider or their statistics, constitutes a recommendation by Kudo to copy any Strategy Provider or to enter into any transaction.
3.7. Independence of Strategy Providers. Strategy Providers are Clients of Kudo. They are not employees, agents, representatives or partners of Kudo and are not authorised to give investment advice or make any statement on Kudo's behalf. Any strategy description, commentary or other communication made by a Strategy Provider is the Strategy Provider's own and is not endorsed or verified by Kudo.
3.8. Strategy Providers independently determine their own trading activity. Kudo does not direct their trading strategies or guarantee their competence, integrity, continued availability or results.

Approval or display of a Strategy Provider is an eligibility and platform-access decision, not an endorsement or certification of investment skill. This clause does not diminish any regulatory duty Kudo may owe in operating, arranging or executing the Service.
3.9. The decision to copy a Strategy Provider, the selection of Copying Settings and the decision to stop copying are made solely by the Copier.

4. Risk Warning

4.1. Trading leveraged products such as contracts for difference (CFDs) and foreign exchange carries a high level of risk and may not be suitable for all investors. The Copier may lose all of the funds allocated to Copy Trading and, depending on the Account Terms, may incur losses that exceed those funds.
4.2. Copy Trading does not reduce the risks of trading. Losses incurred by a Strategy Provider will generally be replicated in the Copier's Trading Account, and the Copier may incur losses even where the Strategy Provider does not, due to the factors described in Clause 9.
4.3. Past performance of a Strategy Provider is not a reliable indicator of future results.
4.4. The Copier should allocate to Copy Trading only funds they can afford to lose and should read the Risk Disclosure in the Legal section of the Website before using the Service.
4.5. Kudo may require a Client to complete an appropriateness assessment or provide additional information before granting access to the Service, and may refuse access where the Service does not appear appropriate for the Client.
4.6. The Copier accepts that a Strategy Provider may employ concentrated, leveraged, high frequency, hedged, martingale or other high-risk strategies; change strategy without advance notice; cease trading; or suffer sudden drawdowns. The Copier may experience materially different outcomes because of allocation settings, trade-size rounding, spreads, swaps, execution order, latency, liquidity and account-specific margin rules. Stop-loss, drawdown and other protective controls may fail to prevent or limit losses in fast or disrupted markets.

5. Eligibility and Registration

5.1. To access the Service, a Client must maintain an active and eligible Trading Account with Kudo and satisfy all applicable identification, verification and compliance requirements.
5.2. Kudo may impose additional eligibility requirements based on account classification, jurisdiction, trading history, regulatory restrictions, risk considerations or other reasonable criteria.

5.3. The eligible Trading Account types, the availability of the Service on demo accounts, any minimum allocation and the maximum number of Strategy Providers a Copier may copy are as displayed on the Platform and may be updated by Kudo from time to time.
5.4. The Service operates only between Trading Accounts held with Kudo. Copying to or from accounts held with other brokers is not supported.
5.5. Clients must ensure that their registration details are accurate and must promptly notify Kudo of any material changes.
5.6. Kudo reserves the right to refuse, restrict or discontinue access to the Service where reasonably necessary for regulatory compliance, account security, risk management or enforcement of this Agreement.

6. Copy Trading Authorisation

6.1. By expressly activating copying for a specified Strategy Provider, the Copier gives Kudo a continuing instruction to submit, modify and close eligible orders automatically in the Copier's Trading Account, without individual trade confirmations, subject to the Copying Settings and Platform functionality displayed at activation. This authority remains effective until revoked through the available controls, but revocation may not prevent instructions already transmitted or executed. The Copier must separately decide whether existing positions should be closed.
6.2. The Copier acknowledges that Copied Trades may be opened, modified or closed without separate notification, manual intervention or prior approval for each transaction.
6.3. The authorisation granted under this Clause is limited to the automatic replication of eligible trading activity through the Service. It does not authorise a Strategy Provider to withdraw funds, transfer assets, access the Copier's login credentials or exercise any other control over the Copier's Trading Account.
6.4. The Copier remains responsible for selecting the Strategy Provider, determining available Copying Settings and monitoring the resulting trading activity, without prejudice to Kudo's obligations under Applicable Laws and the Client Documents.
6.5. The Copier may modify, suspend or revoke copying authorisation at any time using the controls available on the Platform. The effect of such action on existing open positions is governed by Clause 16.

7. Strategy Providers

7.1. Strategy Providers are approved, monitored and bound by conduct, disclosure and conflict-of interest obligations under the Provider Agreement, including obligations not to guarantee returns, accept payments from Copiers or misrepresent their performance or risk.
7.2. Kudo may investigate, restrict, suspend or remove a Strategy Provider or strategy and withhold Strategy Provider remuneration where permitted. Such rights do not create a guarantee that every breach by a Strategy Provider will be detected or prevented.
7.3. Kudo may delist a Strategy Provider who has stopped trading or no longer meets Kudo's qualification criteria. The consequences for Copiers are set out in Clause 16.

8. Copier Responsibilities

8.1. The Copier shall: (a) independently assess the Strategy Provider's trading history, strategy, fees and risk profile; (b) monitor the Trading Account, positions and margin; (c) maintain sufficient funds and margin; (d) manage available Copying Settings; (e) promptly report suspected errors or unauthorised activity; and (f) comply with account restrictions.
8.2. The Copier must not make any payment to a Strategy Provider outside the Service, share their login credentials with any person, or permit any person, including a Strategy Provider, to operate their Trading Account.
8.3. A Copier's responsibility to monitor their account does not exclude any responsibility imposed on Kudo by Applicable Laws or the Client Documents.

9. Trade Replication and Execution

9.1. Copied Trades shall be processed according to the allocation methodology and Copying Settings supported by the Service.
9.2. The available trade allocation methods (which may include proportional allocation, fixed lot size or a multiplier of the Strategy Provider's position) are those displayed on the Platform at the time the Copier selects them. The Copier is responsible for choosing the allocation method and parameters.
9.3. Copied Trades may differ from corresponding Strategy Provider transactions in execution price, timing, volume, margin requirements, profit or loss, and other trading characteristics.

9.4. Differences may arise from market volatility, slippage, liquidity, account balances, leverage, margin availability, minimum and maximum trade sizes, rounding of position sizes, instrument restrictions, execution delays or technical limitations.
9.5. Kudo does not guarantee exact or continuous synchronisation between Strategy Provider and Copier accounts.
9.6. A Copied Trade may be delayed, rejected, partially executed, adjusted or not executed where trading conditions, account restrictions or system limitations prevent successful replication.
9.7. Unless the Platform expressly offers the Copier the option to copy existing positions, only trades opened by the Strategy Provider after the Copier activates copying will be copied.
9.8. The Copier may manually close a Copied Trade at any time. Where the Copier manually closes or modifies a Copied Trade, that position may no longer follow the Strategy Provider's subsequent instructions, and the Copier is solely responsible for its management.
9.9. Kudo may apply execution and risk controls to Copied Trades in accordance with the Account Terms, applicable execution policies and Applicable Laws.

10. Margin, Leverage and Risk Management

10.1. All Copied Trades are subject to margin, leverage, stop-out and other trading conditions applicable to the Copier's Trading Account.
10.2. Differences in account equity, leverage and margin may result in different position sizes, rejected orders, margin calls, forced liquidation or other consequences.
10.3. The Copier remains responsible for maintaining sufficient available margin to support open positions and trading activity.
10.4. The Service may provide configurable risk-management settings, such as position limits, allocation limits, maximum loss or drawdown thresholds or other controls. The available settings and their operation are as described on the Platform.
10.5. Risk-management settings do not guarantee prevention of losses, margin calls, stop-outs or account liquidation. Market gaps, rapid price movements and technical limitations may affect such controls.
10.6. Kudo may impose mandatory risk restrictions or suspend copying where reasonably necessary to protect system integrity, comply with regulatory obligations or address identified trading risks.

11. Fees and Charges

11.1. Use of the Service may be subject to subscription fees, Performance Fees, commissions, administrative charges or other fees.
11.2. All fees applicable to copying a Strategy Provider are displayed on the Strategy Provider Profile and must be accepted by the Copier before copying begins. No fee will be charged to a Copier unless it has been disclosed and accepted in this way.
11.3. Where a Performance Fee applies, the Strategy Provider Profile will set out the rate, the calculation basis (including whether realised and/or unrealised profits are used and any high-water mark), the calculation period and the payment frequency. Unless stated otherwise on the Platform, Performance Fees are charged only on net new profits above the Copier's previous high-water mark.
11.4. The Copier authorises Kudo to deduct accepted fees from the Copier's Trading Account in accordance with the disclosed fee schedule and the Client Documents.
11.5. Kudo shall notify Copiers of material fee changes in advance. A change to the fees for copying a Strategy Provider will not apply to an existing Copier unless the Copier has been notified and has accepted it or continued copying after the notice period.
11.6. Before activation, the Platform will display each applicable fee, its calculation basis, collection timing, and whether fees can arise when the Copier's overall account is loss-making. Fees and remuneration may incentivise Strategy Providers to increase risk or trading activity. The Copier should review the applicable fee schedule before authorising copying.

12. Performance Information and Rankings

12.1. Kudo may display historical returns, trading activity, drawdowns, risk indicators, rankings and other performance statistics.
12.2. Such information is provided for information only and does not guarantee future performance.
12.3. Historical performance, whether derived from live or demo trading, may not accurately reflect future results. The Platform will indicate where statistics are derived from a demo account.
12.4. Performance statistics are calculated using the methodology described on the Platform, which will indicate whether figures are shown before or after fees and how deposits, withdrawals and unrealised profit or loss are treated.
12.5. Kudo may correct inaccurate or misleading performance information and may suspend or remove a Strategy Provider where justified by applicable rules or misconduct.

12.6. Differences in trading conditions and account characteristics may result in materially different Copier performance.
12.7. Rankings, statistics and risk scores may use historical data, estimates, third-party inputs or calculation conventions and may be updated, corrected or temporarily unavailable. They should not be relied upon as predictions. Kudo will use reasonable controls appropriate to its legal obligations to avoid materially misleading displays.

13. Prohibited Activities

13.1. Copiers must not use the Service for fraudulent, manipulative, unlawful or otherwise prohibited activities.
13.2. Prohibited conduct includes: (a) unauthorised account access; (b) exploitation of errors, latency, pricing or replication delays; (c) copying one's own account, or accounts of connected or related persons, in order to generate remuneration, inflate statistics or circumvent restrictions; (d) collusion with a Strategy Provider, including opening opposing or hedged positions across accounts; (e) operating multiple accounts or identities to circumvent limits or eligibility rules; (f) using the Service to transfer value between Clients; (g) unauthorised exploitation of the Platform; and (h) violations of Applicable Laws or the Client Documents.
13.3. Kudo may investigate suspected misconduct and take proportionate measures, including restricting copying, suspending access, cancelling unauthorised instructions where permissible or terminating arrangements.
13.4. Any adjustment or cancellation of executed transactions remains subject to the Account Terms, applicable execution rules and Applicable Laws.

14. Anti-Money Laundering and Sanctions

14.1. Copiers remain subject to Kudo's AML Policy and KYC Policy. Kudo may request additional information or documents at any time, including information on source of funds and source of wealth.
14.2. Kudo may monitor activity through the Service, including relationships between Copiers and Strategy Providers, to detect money laundering, terrorist financing, fraud and sanctions breaches.
14.3. Kudo may suspend the Service, refuse to process any transaction or report activity to the relevant authorities where required or permitted by Applicable Laws, without prior notice to the Client and without liability.

14.4. Clients must not use the Service if they are, or are owned or controlled by, a person subject to sanctions administered by the United Nations, Saint Lucia or any other authority applicable to Kudo.

15. Technical Risks and Service Availability

15.1. The Service relies on electronic trading systems, communications networks, trading servers and associated technology.
15.2. Copy Trading may be affected by latency, connectivity failures, system interruptions, maintenance, technical errors, server overloads and data transmission failures.
15.3. These events may result in missed trades, delayed execution, duplicate instructions, partial execution or discrepancies between Strategy Provider and Copier positions.
15.4. Kudo shall take reasonable measures consistent with contractual and regulatory obligations to maintain security and operational integrity.
15.5. Kudo does not guarantee uninterrupted availability or error-free operation.
15.6. A Copier who identifies a replication discrepancy must report it to Kudo support promptly and in any event within five (5) business days of the relevant trade, providing the account number, trade references and a description of the issue.
15.7. Kudo may temporarily suspend or restrict the Service for maintenance, security, compliance or operational reasons, with notice where reasonably practicable.
15.8. Kudo shall not be liable for any failure or delay in performing the Service caused by events beyond its reasonable control, including market disruption, failure of liquidity providers or third-party systems, cyber-attacks, power or telecommunications failures, acts of government or regulatory action.
15.9. The Service is provided subject to market, network, infrastructure and third-party dependencies. Replication may be delayed, omitted, duplicated, partially executed or interrupted; automatic disconnection or resynchronisation may not occur immediately. Kudo does not warrant that any technical control will operate continuously. Where a suspected error occurs, Kudo will assess it under its execution, incident and complaints procedures and provide any remedy required by Applicable Laws or the Client Documents.

16. Suspension, Disconnection and Termination

16.1. A Copier may stop copying a Strategy Provider at any time using the controls available on the Platform.

16.2. Stopping or disconnecting copying prevents new replication instructions once processed by the Service but does not, by itself, liquidate existing positions. Unless the Copier affirmatively selects an available "close copied positions" option and the corresponding closing orders are executed, open positions remain in the Copier's Trading Account and may continue to generate profit, loss, financing charges and margin exposure. Closing instructions remain subject to market execution and may be delayed or rejected.
16.3. Kudo may suspend or terminate access to the Service for breach of this Agreement, failure of eligibility or verification, suspected fraud or abuse, material regulatory, security or operational concerns, or as otherwise permitted by Applicable Laws.
16.4. Where a Strategy Provider is suspended, removed or stops acting as a Strategy Provider, copying of that Strategy Provider stops. Existing Copied Trades remain open in the Copier's Trading Account, subject to Clause 16.2, unless Kudo closes them where necessary for risk, regulatory or operational reasons. Kudo will notify affected Copiers.
16.5. Termination does not extinguish accrued rights and obligations, including outstanding trading liabilities and properly accrued fees, subject to law and contract.

17. Conflicts of Interest

17.1. Conflicts may arise where Strategy Providers receive remuneration based on trading volume, performance or Copier activity, or where a Strategy Provider has a relationship with Kudo, its employees, introducing brokers or affiliates.
17.2. Conflicts of interest connected with the Service shall be managed in accordance with Applicable Laws and Kudo's applicable disclosures and policies published in the Legal section of the Website.
17.3. Kudo may impose restrictions, disclosures or other measures to address material conflicts.
17.4. Strategy Provider availability or ranking is not assurance that their interests align with those of the Copier.
17.5. Kudo may receive spreads, commissions or other trading-related revenue when Copied Trades are executed, whether or not a Copier makes a profit. Where applicable, Strategy Providers may receive volume-based or performance-based remuneration. These arrangements may create incentives that do not align with Copiers' interests; relevant material conflicts and mitigation measures will be disclosed in accordance with Applicable Laws.

18. Data Protection and Confidentiality

18.1. Kudo may process Trading Account identifiers, transaction records, performance data and copying activity as necessary to operate the Service, subject to its Privacy Policy in the Legal section of the Website.
18.2. Copiers are not identified to Strategy Providers by name. Strategy Providers may see aggregated information about their Copiers, such as the number of Copiers and total allocated funds.
18.3. Further information on the processing of personal data is provided in Kudo's Privacy Policy and Cookie Policy, available in the Legal section of the Website.
18.4. Clients must not misuse, unlawfully disclose or commercially exploit confidential information obtained through the Service.

19. Limitation of Liability and Indemnification

19.1. The Copier acknowledges the inherent risks of trading financial instruments and the possibility of substantial losses from Copied Trades.
19.2. Kudo does not guarantee the profitability, suitability or future performance of any Strategy Provider or copying strategy.
19.3. To the maximum extent permitted by Applicable Laws, Kudo is not responsible for trading losses resulting from market movements; the independent decisions, omissions or statements of Strategy Providers; a Copier's choice of Strategy Provider, allocation or risk settings; or ordinary differences between Strategy Provider and Copier executions arising from disclosed market and account conditions, except to the extent caused by Kudo's breach of a duty owed to the Client or other liability that cannot lawfully be excluded.
19.4. Subject to Clause 19.5, Kudo shall not be liable for any indirect, special or consequential loss, or for any loss of profit, opportunity or goodwill, arising out of or in connection with the Service.
19.5. Nothing in this Agreement excludes or limits liability for fraud, wilful misconduct or any liability that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited.
19.6. The Copier shall indemnify Kudo against reasonable losses, claims and expenses directly arising from the Copier's fraud, wilful misconduct, unauthorised activities or material breach of this Agreement, to the extent permitted by law.

20. Taxes

20.1. Each Copier is solely responsible for any taxes, duties or reporting obligations arising from their use of the Service, including on profits from Copied Trades. Kudo does not provide tax advice.
20.2. Kudo may withhold or deduct taxes where required by Applicable Laws.

21. Amendments to the Service and Terms

21.1. Kudo may amend this Agreement or modify the Service where reasonably necessary for operational, technological, commercial, security or regulatory reasons.
21.2. Material amendments shall be communicated in accordance with the Account Terms and applicable notice requirements.
21.3. Where required by Applicable Laws or the nature of the amendment, Kudo shall obtain renewed acceptance before applying revised terms. Continued use of the Service after the effective date of an amendment constitutes acceptance, except where renewed acceptance is required.
21.4. Kudo may discontinue features or restrict access where necessary, subject to applicable contractual and regulatory obligations.

22. Records, Communications and Language

22.1. Kudo may retain records of acceptance (including the version of this Agreement accepted), Strategy Provider selection, disclosures shown, Copying Settings and changes, timestamps, order routing events, fees, disconnections and relevant communications in accordance with its retention obligations. Such records may be used as evidence, subject to the Client's right to challenge their accuracy.
22.2. Kudo may communicate with the Copier about the Service through the Platform, by email or by other electronic means set out in the Account Terms.
22.3. This Agreement is drawn up in English. Where they are translated into any other language, the English version prevails in the event of any inconsistency.

23. Complaints and Dispute Resolution

23.1. Copiers may submit complaints about copying discrepancies, execution issues, fees or Strategy Provider conduct through the channels identified in the Complaints Handling Policy in the Legal section of the Website.

23.2. Complaints relating to the Service shall be handled under the Complaints Handling Policy, subject to applicable regulatory requirements.
23.3. Copiers should provide account details, transaction references, dates and supporting information.
23.4. Nothing in this Agreement limits any statutory or regulatory complaint or dispute-resolution rights available to the Client.

24. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

24.1. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Saint Lucia, subject to mandatory laws applicable to the Client.
24.2. Disputes shall be subject to the jurisdiction and dispute-resolution arrangements in the Account Terms, to the extent enforceable.
24.3. Where the Account Terms contains a different governing-law or jurisdiction provision, the provision in the Account Terms prevails.

25. General Provisions

25.1. If any provision of this Agreement is found invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall continue in full force and effect.
25.2. Failure or delay by Kudo to exercise a contractual right shall not constitute a waiver of that right.
25.3. The Copier may not assign or transfer any rights or obligations under this Agreement without Kudo's prior written consent, except as permitted by law.
25.4. Kudo may assign or transfer its rights or obligations in accordance with the Account Terms and Applicable Laws.
25.5. A person who is not a party to this Agreement has no right to enforce any of its terms.
25.6. This Agreement must be read with the Account Terms and the relevant legal policies and disclosures available in the Legal section of the Website. This Agreement does not replace those documents.

Copier Acknowledgement

Before activating copying, the Copier must tick separate, unticked confirmation boxes on the Platform for (i) this Agreement and the copy trading risks, and (ii) the standing trade authorisation in Clause 6.1. By doing so, the Copier confirms that they:
(a) have read, understood and accepted this Agreement and the Risk Disclosure;
(b) understand that Kudo does not provide investment advice and that Strategy Providers are not employees or agents of Kudo;
(c) give Kudo a continuing instruction to replicate trades in their Trading Account without separate approval for each trade;
(d) understand that their results may differ from the Strategy Provider's results and that they may lose some or all of the funds allocated to Copy Trading;
(e) remain responsible for monitoring their Trading Account and Copying Settings;
(f) have reviewed and accept the fees displayed on the Strategy Provider Profile; and
(g) understand that stopping copying does not close open positions unless they select the option to close them and the closing orders are executed.
The date and time of acceptance, the version of this Agreement accepted and the Client's account reference are recorded automatically by the Platform.
